

Lyn Mapiye

Shona Tutor

I was born and bred in Harare, a native Shona speaker of the Zezuru dialect. A holder of a diploma in Education, qualified to teach all levels of primary education and have eight years of experience. A final year undergraduate of degree Honours in Special Education with the Zimbabwe Open University. Language breeds socialisation therefore the learning of same language within a group gives one a sense of belonging.

Learning a language helps one to express ideas, interact well and get accepted by other members of the group. Very interested in the teaching and learning of languages. Enjoys watching movies from different countries, learning a variety of languages through visual and auditory perception, which gives a better understanding and learning of other languages.
